DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C.

121:

- I. Claims 1-17, drawn to portable power module, classified in class 290, subclass 1A.
- II. Claims 18-28, drawn to portable power module emphasizing air conducts, classified in class 310, subclass 52.
- III. Claims 29-33, drawn to method of providing electrical power, classified in class 290, subclass 31.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as providing a portable power module with a first air circuit which has a first inlet positioned on two sides of the motor compartment and vertically discharging a portion of air away from the top portion. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

3. Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Invention I emphasizes on the device itself and the structure of the components. The subcombination has separate utility such as the one disclosed in Invention III, which discloses a method of providing power by releasably connecting a gaseous fuel source in fluid communication with a gaseous fuel inlet and operating the fuel motor and the generator at different rpm ranges.

4. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as providing a portable power module with a first air circuit which has a first inlet positioned on two sides of the motor compartment and vertically discharging a portion of air away from the top portion. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper and because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. A telephone call was made to Stephen Arnett on March 1, 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
